Council favors contract

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus councilmembers were in favor Monday of the new three-year contract between the city and the Romulus Police Department.

"I looked over this agreement and I think it takes the city one step forward toward a better employee/employer relationship," Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally also gave her nod of support for the contract.

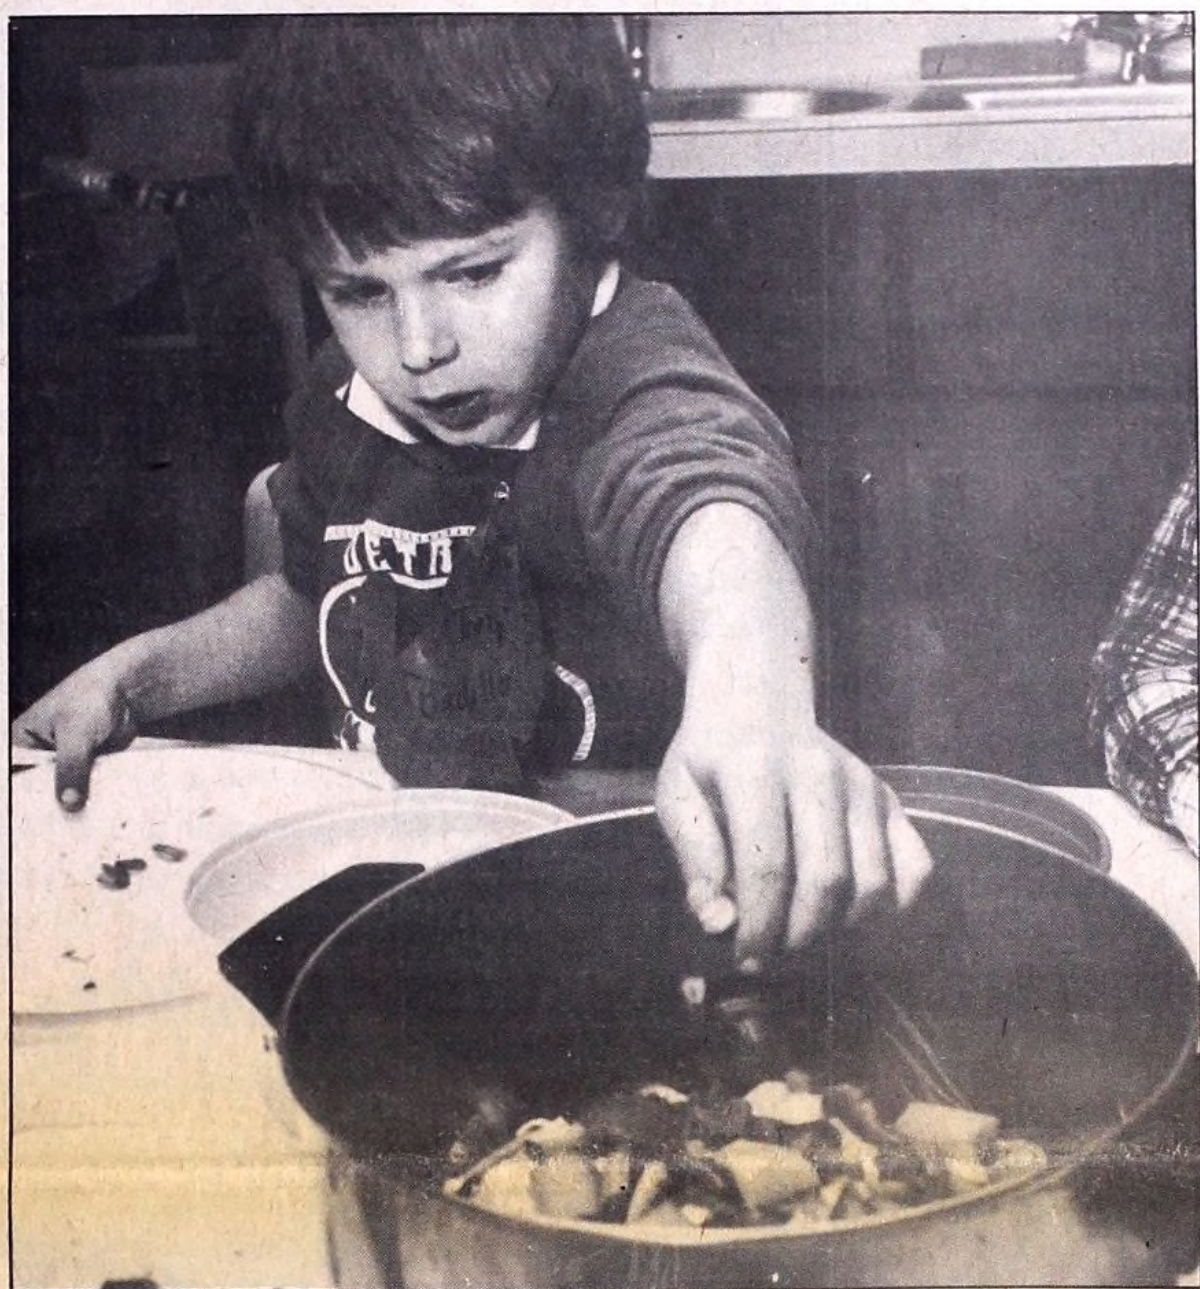

"We feel it's a good agreement," McAnally said.

The contract is between the Fraternal Order of Police, State Lodge of Michigan, Labor Council, the Romulus Command Officers Association and the city for July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1993.

The goal of the contract is a four-fold process:

- To promote and ensure a spirit of confidence and cooperation.
- To set forth the general policy of the city on personnel and procedures.
- To establish uniform and equitable rates of pay and hours of work and other terms and conditions of employment, both economic and non-economic.
- To provide a remedy for any grievance.

Councilmembers and resident disagree

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus councilmembers and Mayor Beverly McAnally stood their ground Monday night when a resident expressed her disappointment with a recent council decision to rezone a residential area for commercial mobile home development.

"We need to preserve as much (residential) property as we can," resident Mary Collins said. "I've heard all kinds of excuses for rezoning that property. It's a great trailer if you want a trailer park, but it doesn't generate the kind of community pride as housing development."

Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear disagreed with Collins.

"How can you say we did a disservice to the community?" Gear said. "Do you know of any developer who would build residential homes in that area?"

On Oct. 22, councilmembers approved the rezoning of Ecorse Road between Ecorse and Cogswell roads from residential to commercial, which opened city doors to the mobile home project.

McAnally refuted Collins statement about mobile homes.

"I think good people come out of that kind of housing," McAnally said. "It is adding to our tax base, adding quality people who become contributing members to the community."

Collins recommended to the council if the city just needs bodies, why not build more low-income housing?

Bodies are not needed in the city, but residents are needed, said Councilman Jimmie Raspberry.

"We lost more than 2,000 people in less than 10 years," Raspberry said. "That's about a $360,000 loss, which is a great impact to the city. We need to bring people in who will use sewer and water. I wish mobile homes were put in my area."

"I've lived in the area for 47 years, and there hasn't been one stick put in the ground there. Something is now being put in the ground where there was nothing 47 years ago."

Before the Oct. 22 decision on the project was concrete, a few councilmembers were a bit hesitant to approve the rezoning.

Councilman Ellis T. Pennington had said he believed a trailer park would leave a bad taste in a lot of people's minds. But, after visiting a few of the owners' mobile homes, Pennington changed his mind.

"I'd be glad to connect my home with this type. There is beautiful landscaping, and it's a nice place to live," Pennington said.

Mobile homes will come in handy, especially with the current oil crisis making local residents want to live in the area they work in order to conserve gas, Gear said earlier.

Students learn bus safety

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Hale Creek Elementary School students took bus safety seriously Nov. 26.

Students participated in a 45-minute AAA Michigan safety patrol training session to teach safer bus trips to and from school.

Renee Ramos, AAA spokeswoman for Wayne County, was the guest for the day.

"Last year, 102 children between the ages of 5 and 14 were killed in Michigan traffic, and 10,856 injured," Ramos said. "The AAA Michigan effort is part of a total safety program designed to reduce these tragic numbers. Student traffic accidents almost never happen when safety patrol members are on the job during school hours."

The goal of the presentation was not only to teach the students about bus safety but also to have them act out the safety measures, according to Hale Creek principal Lynne Mossoian.

"There was a video on how to evacuate from a bus," Mossoian said. "The students had the opportunity to get on the school bus and practice a mock evacuation. Students in kindergarten through sixth grade participated."

The students seemed to understand exactly what their role was during the mock bus emergency. Mossoian said the youngsters were glad to see their familiar bus drivers participate in the exercise with them.

"Even the kids who don't ride the bus to and from school participated," Mossoian said. "It's very helpful for all the students to understand bus safety because they don't always ride just school buses."

All the students were attentive to Ramos, Mossoian said. This was the first year Hale Creek had such an event. Mossoian may make it an annual exercise.

"This was well-organized through the department of transportation in Romulus," Mossoian said.

Since 1919, the AAA safety patrol program, the oldest in the nation, has played a key role in reducing pedestrian fatalities and injuries to children, according to Ramos. This year, the training sessions will be conducted in more than 400 elementary schools statewide.

About 40,000 Michigan elementary and junior high safety patrol members serve at 18,000 Michigan school crossings during the school year to protect classmates.

Employees send gifts

A select group of employees at a Romulus manufacturing plant recently decided to play Santa Claus to the American servicemen and servicewomen in the Persian Gulf.

About 70 employees of Micro Measurement filled eight boxes with canned goods, stationery, toiletries and a number of other gifts, according to Jerry Giese, production man-

"A few ladies have sons over there, so this means a lot to them," Giese said. "We had more than 215 pounds of goods valued at $560 shipped to the Middle East-Operation Desert Shield. We ended up doubling the amount we were shooting for."

Micro Measurement employees only started collecting the goods Nov. 7. They had to meet a Nov. 16 shipping deadline in order for the gifts to arrive before Christmas.

"It was all a labor of love," Giese said. "The company supplied the boxes and paid the $60 postage. We put a card inside each box with a message, 'We're thinking of you.'"

This isn't the first time the employees reached out to help someone. Giese said each Christmas the group usually puts out boxes for the needy for employees to drop off canned goods.

Students at Barth Elementary School presented a banner in appreciation to Merriman Inn in Romulus. The company is involved in the Partnership For Education program. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Students say thanks with banner

Barth Elementary School students recently thanked the general manager of the Merriman Executive Inn in Romulus for educating the students beyond the classroom doors.

Three third-graders - John Penn, Ruby Lee and Ryan Romak - presented a banner and letters to Bobby Perea for his support and dedication.

"We have a partnership with Merriman Executive Inn," said Harold Connon, Barth Elementary principal. "We're going to use Merriman Executive Inn as a tool to teach the students table etiquette. This is important so the kids are not embarrassed when they go out to eat."

Officials from Merriman will be helping Barth students with their table etiquette today in the classroom, according to Connon.

Merriman Executive Inn is one of 60 Romulus businesses involved with Partnerships for Education. The program assists district schools to help further education for all students.

Each business helps the students learn on-the-job skills to use in the future.

Wendy Dixon, branch manager for Security Bank and Trust, takes Romulus students on field trips to the Federal Reserve or teaches them the value of the dollar by showing them how to set up a savings account.

Federal Mogul Corp. officials recently gave a presentation to the staff of Hale Creek Elementary School on what the company will be offering the school in the near future.

Wage study completed

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A municipal employee compensation study, intended to provide an overview of wages paid to administrators and key employees, may be out-of-date by the time it reaches the hands of area personnel directors.

Earlier this month, the Conference of Western Wayne distributed its fourth annual Compensation/Salary Survey of 24 cities and 15 townships in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties to the 18 CWW member communities. However, because several communities were in arbitration or settled retroactive contracts after the information was compiled, the survey does not contain the latest salary figures for all communities.

Marsha Bianconi, CWW assistant director, said consideration will be given to compiling the information twice a year to present a more accurate picture of the salary scale of municipal employees.

Western Wayne County elected officials and administrators receive the following salaries:

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Committee welcomes Romulus seniors

The Grosse Ile Boar's Head Festival Committee has invited Romulus seniors to be their guests at their pageant Dec. 13.

The festival will include a bass ensemble, hand bells, bag pipes, organ, Harpsicord, singers, dancers, a jester and a Christmas story.

More than 100 voices will be in the choir.

For more information, stop by the center at 36515 Bibbins Road or call 942-6852.

Singing to be staged

Members of local churches and Romulus Senior High School students will be singing together at Romulus Senior High School at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 6. The public is invited to attend.

Chamber seeks nominees

The Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce is seeking nominations for "Romulus Person of the Year."

If you know of anyone who you would like to nominate, forms can be obtained at the chamber office, 31200 Industrial Expressway, or by calling 326-4290.

Santa Claus to make local visit

It's that time of the year again to tell whether you've been bad or good.

Santa Claus is coming to town at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 7 for residents at Romulus City Hall.

The event will also feature a tree-lighting ceremony.

Students to receive Good News cards

News travels fast.

But Robert La Chance, Romulus Community Schools activities director, wants to make sure it's not all bad.

He would also like to see good news travel fast.

So La Chance has distributed good news post cards to district teachers. The cards give teachers the opportunity to give positive feedback to students and parents for the work students have made.

"It gives students a few strokes," La Chance said. "The cards are mostly for academic improvements."

The postcard-sized cards are mailed to a student's home. But they aren't just limited to academics, La Chance said.

"They also could be for good conduct in the classroom," he said. "There's no limit of the amount of cards a student can receive."

Deputy chief retires

Deputy Chief Leonard Rukkila is retiring.

Rukkila will officially retire in January 1991.

It will cost the city between $4,000 to $6,000 to replace him. The money will be spent on implementing an assessment center test conducted by Epco Inc. in Troy.

"The assessment center method is the best tool available to select a person for a leadership position within a police department," police Chief Fred Dansby said in a memo to councilmembers Monday night. "In order to be effective, an organization must have leadership and personnel skills that match the needs of the organization. The assessment center method does that."

Round 2: Council strikes back with lawsuit

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

A lawsuit has been filed against the commission's decision. Michigan law doesn't state charges must be truthful on petitions. But, the law states items of discussion must have occurred with the term of office.

— Patrick Norton
Wayne Mayor

An appeal is in the making against the Nov. 8 decision of the Wayne County Elections Commission to approve the language on the second batch of recall petitions.

The petitions are aimed at ousting Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton and five councilmembers.

"A lawsuit has been filed against the commission's decision," Norton said. "Michigan law doesn't state charges must be truthful on petitions. But, the law states items of discussion must have occurred within the term of office."

Michigan election laws state the recall of someone in office must take place during the term of office in which the alleged action took place, according to Marya Sieminski, Wayne County Elections Commission chief deputy clerk.

Councilwoman Donna McEachern was recently removed from the recall petition list "because she wasn't a part of the council during the downfall of the city," according to Don Farmer, chairman of the Wayne Charter Committee.

"We're very pleased Mrs. McEachern was spared from the recall," Norton said. "However, since Michigan election laws require that charges against public officers should be during the term of office, we all started the term about the same time."

"My term is one year, councilmen Thomas Kelly and Robert Beeny have a one-year term and McEachern and councilmen Edwin Rowe and Thomas Weyand have a three-year term. If McEachern should be dropped, then we all should be dropped because the charges are all the same."

If one of the six complaints listed on the recall petitions is found invalid, then all of the petitions have to be thrown out, Norton said.

"We're not going to let one of the accusations be validated," Norton said.

The six complaints listed on the petitions are:

- Violating the Open Meetings Act by failing to require the city planning commission to keep minutes for its meetings.

- Approving the loan agreement with The Associated Newspapers Inc. seven years after the fact.

- Failing to hire and retain a city manager that meets the qualifications required by the City Charter.

- Approving a $600,000 city contract for creation of wetlands on city-owned property located in the City of Romulus.

- Failing to create a Charter Revision Committee when requested by citizens.

- Violating the City Charter by accepting payments for lease of office space from the independent city auditors.

"I think we have enough documentation to support the complaints," said James Arredondo, attorney for the Wayne Charter Committee. "The election commission ruled specifically on those issues. I don't think the city will be very successful with the appeal."

No court date has been set yet for the appeal, according to Patricia Cwiek-Irving, attorney for Wayne councilmembers and Norton.

Besides the appeal attempt, Charter Committee members have another petition circulating in Wayne, requesting a city audit for the past 10 years.

The city gets an audit each year on a regular basis, according to city finance officials.

"All the signatures have to be turned in within 60 days to the city clerk," Arredondo said. "We need 10 percent of the registered voters in Wayne which is about 1,000 signatures. The language doesn't need to be approved by anyone."

Arredondo said once the city clerk receives the audit petition and makes sure the residents who signed are registered voters, the city then has 30 days to act on the request for an audit.

"They will have three options," Arredondo said. "They can either adopt an ordinance to have an audit, reject it or place it on the ballot for the residents in 1991."

Police have suspects

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne police have suspects for one of two robberies last weekend.

On Nov. 23, police were dispatched to Dairy Mart, 4502 Wayne Road, on report of a robbery in progress.

About 8 p.m., Dairy Mart witnesses observed a black man enter the establishment. The suspect allegedly confronted a male cashier and pushed him to the floor.

Rodney Harold Haley, 35, of Westland was issued a warrant for unarmed robbery. Haley was arraigned at an out-of-county prosecutor's office, according to Colligan.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF VAN BUREN REGULAR BOARD MEETING MINUTES NOVEMBER 20, 1990

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Jakoces at 7:30 p.m. Present: Jakoces, Fain, Foster, Birbeck, Cicotte, Melvin and Rochowiak. Others in attendance: Building/Planning Director McNally, Public Safety Director Perkins, Public Services Director Partridge, Secretary King, and an audience of 34.
APPROVAL OF AGENDA: Motion Fain, support Melvin to approve the agenda as presented with the following change: Add New Business Item #4 "Consider three month personal leave for Melissa Brumfield beginning December 1, 1990 through February 28, 1991." Carried.
PUBLIC HEARING: Motion Melvin, support Fain to open the public hearing (consideration of Armstrong's Funland special use approval for Go-Cart Track at 8787 Belleville Road). Carried.
Treasurer Foster explained that this item had been before the township Planning Commission twice, and that the commission had voted five to one to approve the special use for approval. Treasurer Foster was the lone dissenting vote on this issue. The Planning Commission placed five constraints upon this special use. They included hours of operation, lighting away from nearby residential property, twelve car maximum on track at any one time, maximum decibel level, and appropriate buffering to reduce noise levels.
The manager of Belleville Manor Mobile Home Park and Manufactured Home Community presented the Board with non-verified petitions totaling 162 signatures from those in opposition to the go-cart being located on the adjoining property. In addition, seven individuals spoke in opposition against the go-cart track citing the impact on property home values, noise, closeness to residential property lines, and the number of go-carts on the track at one time.
Mr. Armstrong, owner of the proposed site for the go-cart, stated that: he felt noise was an unnecessary concern, he had complied with all requirements of the Planning Commission, had owned the property for ten years, and other residents of Belleville Manor were in favor of the go-cart track. Two audience members did speak in favor of it.
There being no further comment, a motion was made to close the Public Hearing.
Motion Birbeck, support Fain to close the public hearing. Carried.
MINUTES: Motion Birbeck, support Melvin to approve the November 6, 1990 Regular Board Meeting Minutes as presented. Carried.

Motion Foster, support Melvin to approve second reading to adopt amendment to the township zoning map, specifically to rezone from RM (Multiple Family) to M-1 (Light Industrial) to South 27 acres of item #11A1a3B, located in Section 11 as presented. Carried.
(Copies of the rezonings follow minutes. They may also be obtained from the Clerk's Office at Township Hall.
Motion Foster, support Birbeck to deny the special use approval for a Go-Cart Track at 8787 Belleville Road based upon the constraints of size of the site, proximity to dense residential, and for being inappropriate in the Central Business District. Carried.

Tapes sought for library

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Youngsters who patronize the Fred C. Fischer Library hope area residents will provide some videotapes for them through the Giving Tree program. "Videos, which cost between $6.50 and $19, can be purchased for the library, and the donors can take a handcrafted ornament from our Giving Tree in exchange," said Mary Jo Suchy, youth services librarian. "The donors can choose from a list of titles and fill out a slip designating which one they wish to purchase." If every title is sold, the librarian said she is willing to add a few more to the list if necessary. "We are hoping that Belleville area people will put the library on their Christmas shopping list and donate a tape. If they don't want to contribute the entire purchase price, they can make a donation toward the purchase," Suchy said. "We have children's videotapes about Babar, Winnie the Pooh, Paddington Bear, Pippi Longstocking and several other popular children's stories available. Those interested in participating in the Giving Tree program may contact Suchy at 699-3291.

Van Buren police continue search

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Van Buren Township police are looking for information that could solve the 7-year-old unsolved slaying of a reserve police officer.

Van Buren Township detectives have labored to solve the slaying of 24-year-old Wayde Clemons who was said to have friends linked to narcotics traffic.

In the Nov. 18 edition of the Sunday Eagle and Enterprise, investigating officers related the story of the slaying in the hope that someone might come forward with information that would lead to the arrest and conviction of the slayer.

Sometime during the morning of April 24, 1983, an unknown gunman pumped six .38-caliber bullets into the head, face, back and arms of Wayde Clemons as he was sleeping in his home on Ecorse Road.

"I feel we were very close to solving the crime in 1983. We had a suspect, but not enough evidence to charge him with the crime," said Van Buren Township Lt. Kenneth Brooks, one of the officers who originally investigated the case. "Each year, a team of detectives reopens the case and attempts to put the pieces together. We hope now that 7 years have gone by, someone who knew the killer or has some knowledge of the crime will step forward."

In 1983, the investigation was handled by detectives Mark Persons, now the township public safety director, Brooks and two officers who are no longer with the department: Joe Didia and Ken Laskaska.

Police do not believe Clemons was a narcotics user, but many of his friends and acquaintances were involved with narcotics. Two of his acquaintances, Johnny Duane Fields and Timothy A. Greenfield, both 24, were found shot to death during the same year Clemons was slain. Fields was found in the trunk of a car in Ypsilanti Township and Greenfield was found in the trunk of a car in Pittsfield Township.

Many of Clemons' friends were former classmates at John Glenn High School in Westland during the mid-1970s.

Washtenaw County detectives crisscrossed paths with Van Buren Township police during their investigations of the three slayings. Many of those questioned in the shooting deaths of Fields and Greenfield also were questioned in connection with Clemons' death. Later, detectives from both counties cooperated in their investigative efforts.

"I remember Wayde as a quiet, easy-going guy. Although he was a reserve officer for only a short time, he seemed to be well-liked," Brooks said. "Wayde was very athletic. He tried out for the short-lived Michigan Panthers football team and was said to be interested in a boxing career. He lifted weights and was in excellent physical condition."

Clemons, who was 6-3 and 237 pounds, had worked as a bouncer at a local lounge and was reported to be the bodyguard of the Van Buren Township man where he resided. Clemons was known to frequent bars and cocktail lounges throughout western Wayne County where he was observed with different young women.

"At the beginning of the investigation, we felt the killing was motivated by one of four things: a narcotics-related incident, a jealous husband, boyfriend or being in the wrong place at the wrong time," Brooks said. "We talked to some 45 people, many of whom were women he dated, during the first weeks of the investigation, and it did not appear that a jealous husband or boyfriend was involved."

One individual told police a short time before the slaying that Clemons had told him he wanted to get out of the Ecorse Road house. Clemons also told another friend he wanted to move because something had scares him and made him nervous.

Brooks believes an incident which occurred two weeks before the slaying may hold the key to the case. It was reported three white males had argued with the homeowner about a ring and threatened him with a bat. According to witnesses, two of the men threatened to shoot the homeowner. A black man, presumably Clemons, came out of the house and the confrontation broke out.

From witnesses, police believe the following series of events happened. On Saturday night, Clemons and a group of friends went to three bars in Westland. At one bar, frequented by motorcyclists, the group had a confrontation with several men who resented Clemons, a black man, being in the bar. When the bars closed early Sunday morning, Clemons and the homeowner went to a restaurant on Belleville Road and the Interstate-94 Service Drive, and Clemons was observed leaving between 5 a.m. and 5:30 a.m.

At 11:30 a.m. Sunday, a friend attempted to call Clemons. No one answered the phone and the friend left a message on the tape. About 3 p.m., the homeowner reported he entered the house and found the house ransacked and Clemons' gunshot-riddled body in the bedroom. He waited an hour before calling police.

"We got the call at 4:07 p.m.

When officers arrived at the home in the 45000 block of Ecorse Road, we found the victim still covered up in bed, as if he had been surprised by his attacker. The house had been ransacked and a .38-caliber gun, with one spent round in the chamber, was on a table."

Clemon's badge and police hat were in plain view on the dresser, and police believe the killer must have been aware he was shooting a law enforcement officer. Police speculate the killer could have panicked when he entered the bedroom and found the sleeping reserve officer.

The investigation revealed no forced entry into the house. A neighbor who had been been outside most of the day did not recall anything unusual that morning, and a Doberman pinscher in the backyard was not heard to make any unusual noise.

Some clues point to a habitual offender who is currently incarcerated as the slaying suspect, but additional information is needed to build the case, according to Van Buren Township detectives.

"We'd like to clear this case up," Brooks said.

Information about the slaying can be directed to Brooks at 699-8930, or by writing to the police department, 46425 Tyler Road, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Socially sober Company Christmas parties 'dry up' this year

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

Beer will not flow freely this year during the annual Christmas party at Robert J. Stoner and Associates.

In fact, it won't flow at all. The Belleville accounting firm plans again to ban alcohol during its annual Yuletide party.

It is not alone. A growing number of local businesses are changing the way they celebrate the holidays as attitudes about drinking and driving change.

"The days of excessive drinking are not as prevalent as they once were," said Paul Westbrooke, general manager of the Ritz-Carlton in Dearborn. "The awareness in the community is far stronger."

Sober dinner parties and family-oriented afternoon parties have replaced the traditional late-night booze bashes.

Pressure from anti-drunken driving groups and stiffer liability awards to the victims of drunken drivers have helped fuel the change.

"The insurance rate for additional coverage is nominal, usually for free or $25," said Jeffrey Juenemann, an insurance agent in Westland. "But if a company is having parties where people are getting hurt, they're not going to be insured."

— Paul Westbrooke
General manager

Even a business with liability insurance to cover such situations still might end up having to pay in the long run.

Companies can be sued if it can be proven they knew or should have known a guest was drunk, said lawyer John E. Thomas in Plymouth.

"The law is pretty much the same for any type of host," Thomas said.

That pressure has forced Jarrett Mills Schron and Associates Inc. in Wayne to end its Christmas parties.

"We are sensitive to our employees and to what's in our insurance pages," Vice President Robert J. Schron said.

Schron quit staging the party about five years ago. The main reason: Lack of benefit for the company.

"For the amount of money, the company didn't get a lot of benefit from the party," he said. "We now give our employees gift certificates or cash. It's more family-oriented that way."

For companies which still offer alcohol, more often than not company managers are taking extra precautions to avoid a potential liability problem.

"Every year I hire a bartender and give him instructions to cut people off early and I hire a limousine to take people home," said Larry Cocke, president of Form Flow Inc., a Romulus tool maker. "It's a lot cheaper to rent a limousine every year than what one liability claim would cost."

Other companies instead have devised alternatives to the traditional office party.

Some are staging luncheons and family-oriented parties featuring Santa. Others still offer alcohol, but have drastically cut the hours it is served or the amount of drinks available.

At Standard Federal Bank in Wayne, a bash at the bank that might last until midnight has never compared to dinner at a local restaurant.

"We've been out many times with our employees and everyone seems to have a good time," Manager Lorraine Ottis said. "I don't expect any problems with drinking."

At Jack Demmer Ford Inc. in Wayne, employees seem to be adjusting to the switch from an open bar to a two-drink maximum drink limit, said Steven Viso, dealership sales manager.

"We've never had a problem with drinking," Viso said. "Still, all our managers keep an eye out to make sure everyone is in good shape when they leave the party."

But the concern is more than a matter of money, he said. "We want our employees to get home safely."

Clothing drive set

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County residents are being asked to donate clothes for the needy Dec. 2.

Michigan Elite Teens recently joined the Wayne County Family Center for a clothing drive to help those less fortunate.

"All clothes donated goes to help the homeless people of Michigan at The Family Center," said Fred Longton, director of MET. "We're renting a big U-haul to collect the clothes."

More than a dozen teen-agers will assist with the clothing drive Sunday. Besides Wayne, the teens will be gathering donations from Livonia, Westland, Garden City, Redford Township and Dearborn Heights.

"This type of program is not only beneficial to the needy, but it also helps the teen-agers learn about the giving spirit," Longton said.

The MET office will be open for donations Dec. 2 through Dec. 7 from noon until 4 p.m. at 35609 West Michigan Ave.

Residents who would like to make a donation are being asked to separate the clothes from adult and children sizes, said Linda K. Makowski, family center manager.

"Our need is for clean, useable clothing for infants, children and adults," Makowski said. "While we are greatly appreciative of any and all contributions, countless hours could be saved for our volunteers if items donated are clean, useable and possibly sorted by infant and adult."

The new Family Center for homeless families in Westland is targeted to open after the first of the year.

When the center is completed, it will be the first of its kind to offer housing, parenting skills, employment skills and other necessities to prepare homeless families to re-enter the job market.

Soviet visitors will help city celebrate anniversary

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

People from as far away as Russia are coming to Westland to take part in the 25th anniversary celebration of the city.

The soviet visitors will include hockey players and governmental officials. Councilmember Ken Mehl is currently arranging the visit. In 1989, Mehl and wife Sonya went to the Soviet Union as official representatives of Westland. Other residents who made the trip include Sam and Gail Corrado, Diane Rohraff, city clerk; Margaret Harlow and Bruce Priestly from the chamber of commerce and Barbara Barr and Scott Veldhuis, representing the Westland Rotary Club.

"Ken Mehl is arranging everything, and he thought what better time to have them over than during the city's 25th birthday celebration," said Joe Benyo, city council liaison.

Mehl and the other Westland representatives enjoyed their visit to Leningrad so much they decided they would like to show their country to the Soviets, Benyo said.

All of the plans are confirmed except the dates.

"Ken is in the process of setting up the dates right now, but we know it's going to happen, we just don't know when," Benyo said.

"We're trying to make this a goodwill type of thing. We want it to be non-political. It's strictly a way for us to say, 'We want you to see our country.'"

The hockey players will be made of 14- and 15-year-olds. They will be joined by some sports, school and government officials from the Soviet Union.

Rob Kantner, creator of private eye Ben Perkins, displays some of his mystery novels set in Belleville. Kantner will be visiting Belleville between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday, and autographing books for his fans at Miss Ginger's on Main Street. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Mystery writer plans visit

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Watch out Mark Perkins and "Doc" Dockter.

On Saturday, Ben Perkins is coming to town. And when Perkins — Ben, that is — comes to Belleville, local law enforcement officers have to step aside to let the private eye do his stuff.

Actually, Van Buren Township Public Safety Director Mark Perkins and Belleville Police Chief Willard Dockter don't have to worry about Ben Perkins poking his crime-solving nose into local police business, because the private eye does his detective work in mystery novels written by Rob Kantner of Westland.

Kanter, who has written six mystery books about Perkins' adventures, will be visiting Miss Ginger's on Main Street between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Dec. 1 to talk about his books and to autograph them for mystery novel fans.

The author is no stranger to Belleville. In fact, his wife, Valerie Barkus Kantner, grew up near Interstate-275 and Ecorse Road and attended Quirk Elementary School. She brought her husband to Belleville to visit her old hometown and he chose it as a site for his detective series.

Kantner spoke at the former Quirk School four years ago when the Friends of the Fred C. Fischer Library sponsored an author's day. Coincidentally, the room where Kantner spoke was the first-grade room of his wife.

In 1982, two of Kantner's short stories, Cinnamon Twist and C is for Cookie were published in Alfred Hitchcock's Mystery Magazine. Four more of his short stories were published in 1983 and five were accepted in 1984. At the same time, Kanter began working on mystery novels.

Among his books are Back Door Man, The Harder They Hit, Dirty Work and Made in Detroit. All of the books feature Ben Perkins as a Belleville-based detective hero.

In his books, Kantner weaves his own auto factory know-how, Southern roots and blue-collar background and makes the character of Perkins come alive

Miss Ginger's on Main Street is located at 369 Main St. in downtown Belleville.

Former Belleville High School instructor donates memorial painting

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A former Belleville High School art instructor donated a framed painting of the proposed tri-community Veterans Memorial to help create public awareness of the project.

Funds are being collected to construct a $106,000 memorial to honor all of the servicemen and servicewomen from the tri-community area who served in World War I, World War II and the Vietnam and Korean conflicts.

Herbert Sawyer's framed painting dramatizes the upper portion of the main monument with eagle, drape, roses and a helmet, displayed on an ebony granite stone. In his painting, Sawyer intermingled the beak of the American eagle with the posture of a silhouetted prisoner of war.

When asked about his artwork, Sawyer said he liked the general feeling of strength and pride plus the tranquil scene in the background, which shows the gravestones surrounded with roses.

Sawyer, an Air Force veteran, empathizes with the memorial project because his older brother, Stanley Sawyer, was killed in action by a sniper's bullet just one month before the end of World War II. The brother of his wife, Teresa Bies-Sawyer, also was killed in action.

"I wanted to put themes into the paintings that take it beyond the actual monument," Sawyer said. "I enjoyed doing the painting because it was a personal challenge, and I was glad I could contribute to the memorial effort."

The finished monument will be flanked by side tablets listing the names of 140 Belleville, Van Buren Township and Sumpter Township area servicemen who were killed in action.

Sawyer, who left BHS in 1971 to establish a design studio, was director of the art department, a swimming coach and a guidance counselor. During his tenure at the school, Sawyer initiated and sponsored the National Honor Society, published the annual yearbook and directed a variety of plays.

Recycling program continues

Some 450 families are recycling their newspapers, aluminum, plastics and glass in Van Buren Township between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. each Saturday.

On hand to help them sort through their bags and boxes of recyclables is a staff of volunteers who assist in separating the items and placing them in the appropriate containers behind township hall.

The recycling program, which was introduced more than one year ago by former environmental analyst Ed DeLhagen, is now being coordinated by Amy Babinshak. The current head of the environmental management department has a bachelor's degree in public affairs and a master's degree in resource development.

In the future, Babinshak plans to begin a composting program, co-sponsor a household hazardous waste collection and work to develop commercial/industrial recycling programs.

Currently, the township recycling program is collecting

- Tin cans, rinsed and with labels removed.
- Aluminum (foil, trays and non-deposit cans), rinsed and crushed.
- Glass (food containers only) separated by colors and with lids and caps removed.
- Newspapers, placed in brown paper bags with glossy inserts removed.
- Plastics, including milk, juice, laundry soap, shampoo and similar containers, rinsed.

Seniors set busy schedule

A variety of events and services are available for older residents at the September Days Senior Center.

Events at the center, located at 46270 Ayres Road, are coordinated by Director Connie Brinkerhoff.

Daily at 11:45 a.m., meals are served at the center for those who have made reservations. Cost is $1 for those 60 years of age and old and $2.80 for those younger than 65.

A variety of adult education classes are provided by the Van Buren Public Schools. Parties, bowling, card games and swimming are among the regular recreational activities slated by the members.

Health screening are conducted each Thursday and information on legal aid and social security is also provided

Beginning December 9, you must dial "1-313" or your long distance call will not go through.

As of December 9, if the first three digits of your phone number are listed below, you must dial "1-313" when dialing long distance within the 313 area. Otherwise, your call won't be connected. Because that's when final conversion of your neighborhood to "1-313" long distance dialing will be complete. So if you haven't already reprogrammed your speed calling, call forwarding, modem communications software and automatic dialers, you should do so immediately.

And remember, local and zone calls are still seven digits. Not sure what's long distance and what's not? Just check the front of your Ameritech PagesPlus® White Pages directory.

Thanks for dialing "1-313." Because by doing it you're helping to create 1.5 million new phone numbers for our area. And a completed call for yourself.

Beginning December 9, if the first three digits of your phone number are listed here, you must dial "1-313" for long distance calls in the 313 area.

Opinion

Those who make the rules should also live by them

Who makes the rules? That seems to be the question Mayor Robert Thomas of Westland has tackled head-on this week with his request that members of city commissions and boards who do not live within the municipality resign from those policy making groups.

Frankly, we think Thomas is on the right track and applaud his efforts.

Those who have served and subsequently changed residency should offer their service to the new community in which they live, no matter how serious a loss of continuity and experience Westland might suffer. If their advice or knowledge of any particular issue might be needed in Westland, it would seem that a phone call or a special appearance at a meeting of the commission or board members would be appropriate. Actual membership on the commission, committee or board should be reserved for residents of the city, however.

If allowing non-residents to make recommendations of this nature for approval of members of the city council is acceptable, would it then be just as acceptable for non-residents to be elected to the council or mayor's office?

We think not. Those making decisions which so dramatically influence the spending, allocation and use of taxpayers' money, property and time should be subject to precisely the same consequences as those affected by their decisions.

The mayor of Westland has taken action which best serves the community, the taxpayers and his office.

Just say 'No'

There is only one way to say "no" and that is NO.

Councilmembers of the city of Inkster are entertaining a proposal from the Michigan Hospital Authority to construct a $15 million medical waste disposal plant on Henry Ruff Road.

They apparently are not convinced that the MHA proposal is a dangerous idea. Some say that the lawmakers are salivating over the tax-generated revenues the facility may bring to the city coffers.

Although at least three members of council have announced that they will not support the proposal, council went ahead and voted to create an ad hoc committee to study the merits of the MHA plan.

And council made the move despite pleas to the contrary from the people who put them in office.

Those councilmembers who favor the formation of the committee and the study argued that it was premature to deny MHA the opportunity to present its case.

Moreover, some councilmembers fear that if the plan is denied, MHA officials may go ahead and purchase county land or negotiate a deal with neighboring municipalities such as Wayne, Westland, Dearborn Heights or Garden City and build the plant anyway. Then, not only will the city of Inkster be stuck with a potentially hazardous plant, they would not reap the projected $100,000 in tax revenues the proposed plant would pay in tax revenues.

Councilmembers' dilemma is imbued in the hope that stalling for time will resolve the problem.

We don't see it that way.

With two facilities - the Wayne County Sanitation Authority incinerator and the Environmental Waste Control - already located within city limits or nearby, it is disastrous to even entertain a proposal to construct another waste disposal or incinerator in Inkster.

Moreover, the proposal to create an ad hoc committee is sending a message to the citizens of Inkster that lawmakers didn't get their message. A dozen citizens have informed councilmembers that the plant MUST not be built in Inkster.

We agree.

Thanks from the desert

Thanks. What else could I say? With all The Belleville Enterprise has done, you deserve a medal or something. Your support for us here is exceptional. It seems that the whole town has come to our support. The cards and letters from the folks back home bring a smile and a warm spot to the heart.

Please send my thanks to the people there, for their support and prayer. It is great to hear about the red, white and blue ribbons going up in the shops.

know because I was there (at the council meeting). Also, you don't have the right councilmembers voting for and against the rezoning in your story, not to mention the "fact" that the story says Thomas Artley is now the mayor of Westland. Was there another election last week or something?

As I said, I know the facts because I was there that night. Obviously, your reporter wasn't or if she was, she was asleep or something.

Alvin Leiter
Westland

Reporter and story blasted by reader

I thought newspaper stories were supposed to report the facts but I guess I was wrong. I have never seen such a shameful example of reporting as the story that appeared on the top of the front page of (Nov. 8) Westland Eagle.

For starters, your headline and story say that the Westland city council denied a rezoning and aren't interested in development at Cooper School when actually it was the exact opposite of what happened. I

(Editor's note: Regrettably, we did make an error regarding the vote on this issue. However, with three separate motions on the same issue and the ensuing confusion during the rather quiet discussion among the councilmembers, Westland reporter Trish Brown did make an error on the final outcome. The reference to Mr. Artley as mayor was a typesetting error in our composing room for which we apologize. To our defense, we did correct the story and the error in identity in our Sunday paper that same week. We apologize, Mr. Leiter, for the errors, and will make every effort to see that we preserve our reputation for accuracy in the future.)

Youth urged to say no to sex

The facts are in: AIDS is on the rise, syphilis cases have escalated and other forms of venereal disease have reached new heights. I am extremely concerned for our younger generation. It appears that the "facts" are not being presented to our young people in entirety.

Society must come to the realization that young people never truly believe they will contract AIDS. This same thinking has resulted in many unwanted pregnancies among teens. And yet, even within public schools, youngsters are encouraged to be sexually active as long as they practice "safe sex". It is time for the younger generation to realize that there is no such thing as "safe sex" outside of marriage.

Mankind was created above the animal kingdom, and yet it is difficult to ascertain this when children are being taught to imitate "dogs in heat" without a brain in their heads to say "NO". How terribly destructive.

The bottom line is this: AIDS means death. There is no escape, no magic formula, no turning back. And society cannot get around this. Within a very few short years, today's younger generation will start reaping the benefits of what they have learned from society. Sons and daughters will die from AIDS, but not without passing the dreaded disease on to someone else, in most cases.

Think, young people. Is a one-night stand really worth dying for? Don't say "No" to premarital sex to please me. Say "No" to premarital sex to save your lives. Society has a lot of apologizing to do to our younger generation. It's unfortunate that a simple apology will not save many of these young people's lives.

Sue Willett

It's happened again. Once more, it is becoming increasingly difficult for me to cram my protruding size 8 body into my size 6 clothes. Either I'm gaining weight or the cleaners shrunk everything I own, including items that they've never even seen.

What is going on here? It's becoming increasingly obvious that all I need do is look at a jelly doughnut and I gain 2 pounds, 3 pounds if I sit next to anybody actually eating one. This is not a pleasant development. There were several years in my life when I never even thought about my weight. No matter what I did, the scale remained pretty much within a 5-pound range. (Except for those pregnancies, but that doesn't count for all practical purposes.)

So what happened here? Why am I bulging where I used to curve? My bodily topography seems to have been altered in a manner I don't quite understand and certainly don't like.

Does this mean I spend the rest of my days counting calories and (forgive the expression) exercising? I refuse to believe that my life has come to this. The only exercise I presently get is jumping to conclusions and frankly, the thought of riding one of those stupid bicycles that goes nowhere is too depressing to even consider. Watching Jane Fonda and two aliens from another planet sweat on videotape does nothing to help me either. I've sat and watched those stupid tapes three or four times, and I didn't lose a pound.

Does this increase in body mass have anything to do with becoming a grandmother? What is this, the minute your children threaten you with procreation you start to get fat? Is this, too, a consequence of finally being "mature."

So far I've had to deal with short-term memory loss, aching joints and chronic fatigue. That doesn't account for the depression which accompanied the gray hairs and wrinkles (which I convinced myself were laugh lines). Now I have to deal both with fat AND gravity?

This is definitely not a good time. People wonder why my disposition has gone from merely surly to downright nasty lately? Just wait, someday they too will be faced with the prospect of finding a wrinkled, fat, OLD person in the mirror every morning. Let's just see how cheerful they are then.

So now, along with everything else, I get to diet. What fun. Just as the Christmas cookies, the fudge, the candy, the delicious canapes (I can't spell hors d'oeuvres), and all the other wonderful holiday parties and treats are about to be offered, I get to begin starving myself. This should improve my disposition even more.

And I thought puberty was hell.

Here are some old family favorite recipes that are sure to brighten up anyone's disposition. Even mine. Hey, if I'm going to be old and fat, I might as well enjoy it.

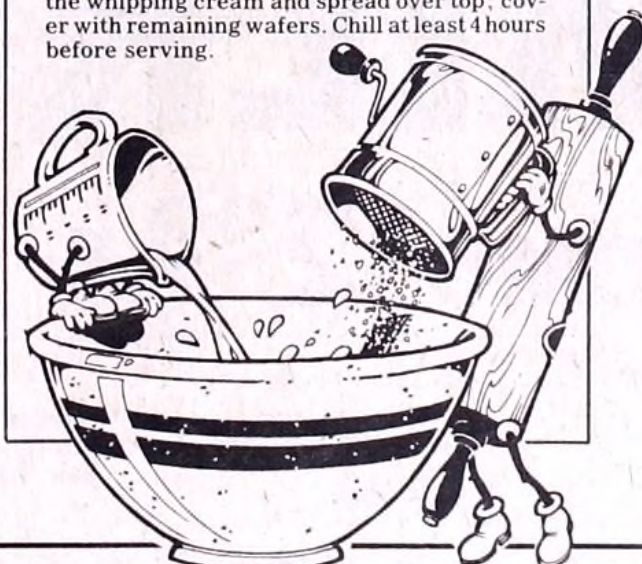

Topsy turvy pie

Glaze:
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon corn syrup

Cranberry Refrigerator Cake Third place

2 cups cranberries (chopped)
2/3 cup sugar
1 large banana (diced)
2 cups crushed vanilla wafers
1/2 cup oleo
1 cup powder sugar
2 eggs
1 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup nuts (optional)

Place half of crushed vanilla wafers in bottom of an 8 by 8 glass pan and refrigerate. Cream oleo and powdered sugar, add eggs, beat well. Spread over chilled crumbs. Mix cranberries, banana and sugar; spread over creamed mixture and sprinkle with nuts (if desired). Whip the whipping cream and spread over top; cover with remaining wafers. Chill at least 4 hours before serving.

Barbara Snow of Wayne is gradually learning to adapt her recipes to a more healthful diet.

She has always enjoyed trying new recipes, but usually goes along as directed. Now that her husband requires a special diet, she takes lower cholesterol and other issues into consideration when cooking for her family.

Snow is the third-place winner in the Associated Newspapers Holiday Cookbook Contest. Although perhaps not "heart smart," her recipe for Cranberry Refrigerator Cake took the judges by storm.

"My mom, sister and I bake a lot of cookies at the holiday season," she said. "I just thought I would share some of our favorites."

Snow has lived in Wayne since 1968. She is married and has two boys and a girl—ages 9, 14 and 15.

"I enjoy trying new recipes that friends pass along," she said.

Snow and second-place winner Deborah Fredericks of Westland will enjoy dinner out on us for their recipes, and first-place winner Anna Stoltz will receive a food processor to make her holiday baking a little easier.

With M-CARE, the sky is not the limit.

There's a serious accident. Time is crucial. A helicopter is dispatched to speed the victim to the University of Michigan Burn Center... a service you, hopefully, will never have to call on. But it's there if you need it, and much, much more through M-CARE.

M-CARE is the only HMO that links all the resources of the U of M Medical Center to the personal care of your family doctor and your nearby hospital. M-CARE covers you for office visits, checkups, hospitalization—even emergency helicopter transport.

Of course, with the M-CARE network of hospitals in cities like Royal Oak, Dearborn and Rochester, you don't always have to go to the U of M Medical Center. But isn't it good to know it's there whenever you need it? To find out more, ask your employer. Or call M-CARE at 747-8700.

The 1990 Robichaud High School football team will go down in history as the first to capture a Class B state football championship.

Mission accomplished

Robichaud reigns as Class B state champ

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A 21-7 victory over Kingsford Friday night in the Pontiac Silverdome gave Robichaud Coach Robert Yauck and the Bulldogs their first state football crown.

"It is something we have been waiting for, for a long, long time around here," said Yauck, who completed his 21st year as head coach. "It's a dream come true for myself and the members of this outstanding team. It is very difficult to express the emotions and feelings in words. However, let me say that all coaches would like to win a state title. We have finally reached that goal."

It wasn't easy. Kingsford dominated the first quarter and drew first blood when the Flivvers put together a methodical 80-yard drive culminated by tailback Ryan Bruns' two-yard touchdown run. That drive ate up 8 minutes of the clock.

And, after the ensuing kickoff, the Bulldogs' frustration deepened when quarterback Andrew Parham's pass was intercepted in the end zone, erasing a 51-yard sustained drive that fell 8 yards short of the Kingsford goal.

"I was still confident," Yauck said. "I could see we were flat, but once we settled down, everything would be all right."

Doubling as a defensive back, Parham picked off a Kingsford pass and returned it 32 yards to the opponent's 21-yard line with 24 seconds remaining in the opening half. Then, the swift-moving quarterback followed up with an 11-yard touchdown run. Wheatley kicked the extra point to give the Bulldogs the equalizer as time ran out.

Robichaud came back with touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters. Wheatley rushed for 168 yards and scored one TD. That tally came in the third quarter.

Robichaud sealed the victory with a fourth-period touchdown when senior running back Ralph Irwin scored from 3 yards out with less than 8 minutes left.

Robichaud finished the 1990 campaign with a 12-1 overall record and its first state football title. Wheatley wound up as the second-best all-time scorer in Michigan history.

And what will life be like for the Bulldogs in 1991 when, for the first time in four years, they will be without Wheatley?

"I don't even want to think about it," said Yauck.

Yauck will be back next year

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Robert Yauck will return to Robichaud in 1991.

The veteran head football coach on Monday silenced rumors he would step down.

"I haven't even given it a thought," said Yauck, who completed his most successful year Friday night when his Bulldogs beat Kingsford to win the state Class B championship.

"I enjoy what I am doing," Yauck said. "I like working with the kids. If there ever came a time that I didn't, then I would seriously consider stepping down. But, right now, I don't see that happening in the near future."

Yauck has served as head coach for 21 seasons. The Bulldogs presented their coach with an early Christmas gift when they rallied to a 21-7 victory over Kingsford last week.

Bob Yauck

Although Yauck has fielded some outstanding teams in the past — the 1983 club went 10-1 and the 1984 team posted an 8-1 record — he refuses to make comparisons.

"You just can't do that," Yauck said. "It would be unfair. The 1983 team was an outstanding defensive team. It shut out eight of their opponents. This year's team was very explosive on offense. You'd be comparing apples with oranges."

Wheatley: Athlete for all seasons

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With his performance Friday night at the Pontiac Silverdome against Kingsford, Robichaud tailback Tyrone Wheatley moved up to second place on the all-time Michigan scoring list.

The 6-2, 210-pound senior carried the ball 18 times for 168 yards and one touchdown and kicked three extra points to lead the Bulldogs to a 21-7 victory over Kingsford and their first state Class B title. He has amassed 484 career points, second only to Dan Lato of Crystal Falls Forest Park who tallied 522 points.

Wheatley has rewritten the record ledger at Robichaud during his four years in a Bulldog uniform. For the season, he carried the ball 208 times and rushed for 2,010 yards.

"The stats are remarkable because, if you recall, Tyrone played quarterback the first five games of the season," Robichaud Coach Robert Yauck said. "He is one heck of an athlete."

Wheatley scored 36 touchdowns — 33 by rushing, one via a recovered fumble and two others through pass interceptions. He also converted 22 point-after attempts and made seven two-point conversions.

Wheatley is undecided on where he wants to continue his education. However, earlier this year he said he was giving serious thought to the University of Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State and Tennessee.

Why Tennessee? "Tennessee has an excellent track-and-field program," Wheatley said.

Wheatley also happens to be one of the finest sprinters in Michigan. In April, he became the first athlete to capture four gold medals in a state championship meet. He is the defending 100- and 200-meter, hurdles and long jump champion.

Preps begin hunt for mat glory

ANP Staff Writer

Belleville and Romulus — two of the top high school wrestling teams in the state — will begin their 1990-91 seasons next week.

Coach Gerald Malecek and the Belleville Tigers will open at home Dec. 8 when they host the Tiger Invitational. At the same time, third-year coach Norm Butler and the Romulus Eagles will travel to Flint Kearsley to compete against some of the best teams in the state.

Belleville, the second-best Class A team in the state last year, lost in the state finals to Temperance Bedford. But Malecek managed to guide his Tigers to the Wolverine 'A' Conference title and the district and regional championships.

The Tigers have invited such prominent teams as Tecumseh, Adrian, Wayne Memorial, Ypsilanti, South Lyon, Saline, Northville and Plymouth Canton to participate in their inaugural tournament.

"We got a lot of work to do to get ready for the opener," Malecek said. "We lost a lot of good people to graduation. We're definitely rebuilding."

Among those who Malecek will have to replace, and their respective weight classes, are state qualifiers Derek Reed (112), Mike Braswell (171), Jeff Komaromi (189) and Chris Williams (140).

"If we fill the voids, we should be competitive again this season," Malecek said.

Belleville and Trenton shared the conference title a year ago, with the Tigers

"We have a lot of work ahead of us before we can say we are ready. There are too many question marks and, in time, they will be answered."

— Gerald Malecek
Belleville coach

finishing ahead of the Trojans at the league championships after they lost in a head-to-head dual meet.

Trenton, joined by Southgate Anderson, again poses the greatest threat to the Belleville wrestling dynasty.

"Trenton has enough of their wrestlers returning to make them the preseason favorite," Malecek said.

Meanwhile, Butler will head for Kearsley without Bruce Boyd, who captured a gold medal at the state championships a year ago in the 135-pound class. Also missing from the Eagles lineup because of graduation are David Gehring (119), Tim Kosikowski (130), Billy Lincoln (140), Brian Fornan (152) and Scott Murawski (152).

Last year, Romulus posted a 12-2 won-lost record and finished second to Adrian in the final South Central Conference standings.

"We lost some tough seniors, and it will be even tougher to replace them," Butler said.

Butler and his Eagles also will be bidding the SCC adieu after the current season.

Huron cagers reach Class B quarterfinals

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A 54-45 victory over state-ranked Inkster last week moved New Boston Huron to the threshold of basketball history.

Coach Tim Suemnick and the Chiefs won their first Class B regional women's basketball crown at the expense of the Vikings and have earned a berth in the state quarterfinals. They were scheduled to play Mt. Clemens Wednesday night at Allen Park High School to determine which team would advance to the state semifinals. The semifinals will be played 8 p.m. Friday in Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena.

In the meantime, Suemnick was preparing his club for a showdown against a Mt. Clemens, a team that has won 22 of its 24 games this season.

"We have to continue to do the things we do best, and that's play defense. Defense has gotten this team where it is today," Suemnick said. "Although we don't know anything about our opponent, we do know that they have won 22 games, and any team that has accomplished that, you have to respect."

Suemnick called the victory over Inkster, a team that buried Dearborn Divine Child, the defending Class B state champ a week earlier, "The biggest girls' basketball victory in the school's history. I can't say too much about these kids. They work hard and they don't quit. It's a combination that makes champions."

Huron managed to pull the upset thanks to a balanced scoring attack and its tenacious defense. The defense held the potent Inkster offense, led by all-state candidate Leatrice Scott, to a mere 15 points in the first-half. Scott led a mad rush to overcome a 25-15 halftime deficit, and the Vikings almost pulled it off as they closed within seven (52-45) of catching up.

The Chiefs, however, managed to hang on despite the loss of Chris Willingham, who suffered an ankle injury.

Scott ended her prep cage career with 22 points, while teammate Tequan Abney supported her with 10 points.

Huron received 11 points from Janet Hughes, while Willingham and Janet Miller each contributed 10 points.

Hughes and Willingham gave the Chiefs the edge on the boards as they combined for 22 rebounds between them.

Amann announces bid for county commissioner's job

Bryan Amann isn't your average golden boy. You would think the 33-year-old Amann, assistant Wayne County executive and county Noise Czar, would be satisfied with his career.

At least he says he is. But come this spring, he will be running for the Wayne County commissioner seat left open by Milton Mack, who was appointed a probate judge recently by Gov. James Blanchard.

In this interview, Amann, who earned a juris doctor degree from the University of Detroit in 1984, officially announces his candidacy and talks about his role in the county.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS: Do you want to follow Milton Mack as Wayne County commissioner?

BRYAN AMANN: Yes, I do. If I am elected in the spring, there would be a pay cut. It's going to be a lot of hard work and a lot of fun. I thought about this position for a while and I thought, "Yes. Go for it."

ANP: What are your chances to be elected?

BA: I don't have the UAW support. I may have it, but I understand some of the commissioners are waiting to hear what they want before they fill the temporary vacancy.

ANP: You are a Democrat who is going to run in a traditional Democratic district. What chance does a Republi-

BA: I'm sure Mr. Gustafson is frustrated. The fact is he had an election against Milt Mack and the voters on that day decided (Mack) was a better candidate. He'll have that chance to voice his opinions again and, hopefully, the voters on that day will decide I'm the better candidate.

The fact is that appointment was never a sure thing, especially with the governor losing. The governor had a lot of attorneys on staff that would have wanted that position. I think Milt Mack after the election believed he would serve the two-year term.

ANP: What have you learned from this last election?

BA: People in this county are making it very clear they are not interested in any more taxes. You have got to live with what you have. In the county, I think our roads need to be improved. As commissioner, that would be my No. 1 priority.

ANP: Why take a cut in salary?

BA: I wish that was still true.

In the last election, the numbers were pretty close in Mack's race. I think that speaks more of what happened to John Engler and Jim Blanchard. I still think it's a Democratic district so I think the Democratic candidate will win this, but it will be a tough race.

ANP: If you were Mack's opponent, Victor Gustafson, how would you feel? You just lost the race for commissioner Nov. 6 and the winner is leaving his seat.

I think I can do more for the county as a policy-maker.

At this point, I'm spread all over the county. The opportunity is there now for me to try and focus on western Wayne County. At this time, in this area, the opportunities for elected office are rare. I'm not excited about taking a pay cut. I'll have to go out and practice law to make up the lost income. It will be a sacrifice upon my family.

BA: I think I can make a difference in the county. I'm sure I'm making a difference and having an impact now. But it's time for me to become an elected official and make an impact in western Wayne County.

ANP: Have you been groomed for this position by anyone or any group?

BA: I've had people ask me about that. I wish it were true. There are people expressing interest in this office who are closer friends of Milt Mack. They or anyone will tell you there hasn't been any grooming by Milt Mack or anyone else. (Wayne County Executive) Ed McNamara, in fact, is really disappointed I decided to leave. He's encouraging me and supporting me. I wish you could argue there were power figures and puppeteers setting this up for Bryan Amann. It's not. If I was being groomed, I would have the UAW support and support of all 14 county commissioners.

Intermediate school district changes name

It's been known for years as Wayne County Intermediate School District, but the organization has changed its name to Wayne County Regional Education Agency.

The name may be different but the organization, which represents 34 school districts in Wayne County, will still offer all of the same services for school district officials, teachers and students.

The name was changed after officials from the educational agency decided many people did not know what the agency did, or even that it existed.

"People just did not know what (the former name) meant," said Kathleen Chorbagan, member of the Wayne County Association of School Boards and a Wayne-Westland school board member.

The agency provides numerous services to all of the school districts in Wayne County, which is the fourth largest county in the United States, Chorbagan said.

The employees who work for the agency are extremely busy, according to Chorbagan.

"We're the body that sits down day after day with each school district in Wayne County trying to help them reach the goal of Public Act 25," Chorbagan said.

The act, which is mandated by the State of Michigan, requires school districts to adopt a resolution specifying the curriculum they intend to follow. After the resolution has been adopted, the district must meet state requirements or lose state revenue.

Study claims speed kills

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

The speed limit change from 55 mph to 65 mph has cost many lives, according to a study recently released by the University of Michigan.

The study compared the number of fatalities before the speed limit change and the number after the change. The findings show the number of accidents didn't necessarily increase, but the injuries sustained by drivers were much more severe.

The speed limit increases took place around December 1987. In the period between December 1987 and December 1989, U of M researchers found a 28 percent increase in the number of deaths, a 39 percent increase in the number of serious injuries and a 24 percent increase in the number of moderate injuries.

On Michigan roads and highways during that same period, 31 additional people died in automotive accidents, 420 suffered serious injuries and 491 suffered moderate injuries, according to the study.

The additional deaths and injuries are estimated to have cost an additional $98 million, according to the director of the study, Fredrick M. Streff, of the University of Michigan Transportation Research Institute.

Arguments for raising the speed limit included the number of speeders would be decreased. The higher speed

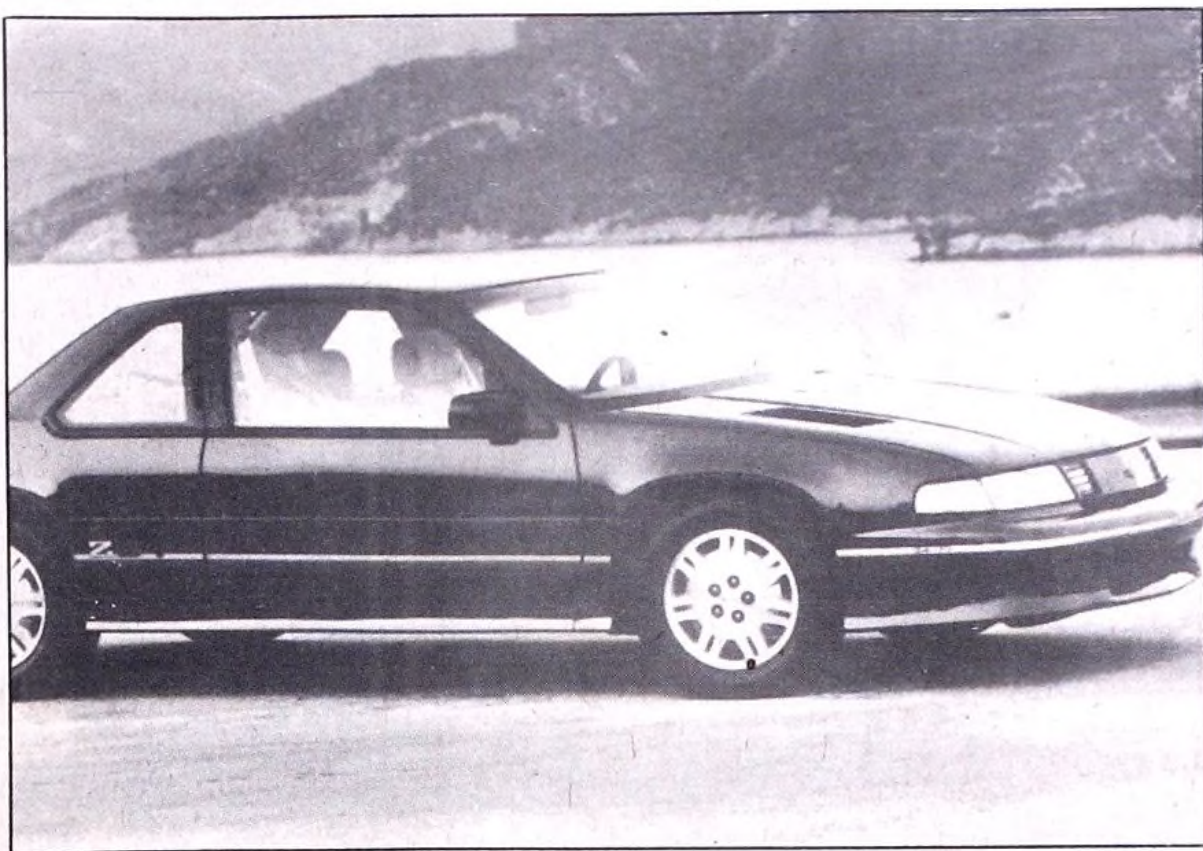

The proportion of drivers exceeding 65 mph on roads with a posted 65 mph limit has risen precipitously from 30 percent before the limit was raised to 42 percent after.

— Fredrick M. Streff
Study director

limit didn't reduce the problem of chronic speeding, according to study findings.

"The proportion of drivers exceeding 65 mph on roads with a posted 65 mph limit has risen precipitously from 20 percent before the limit was raised to 42 percent after," Streff said in the study. Reducing the speed limit is not the answer, according to Streff. The reason: Motorists would most likely be against lowering the limit. He suggested giving law enforcement officials the right to pull drivers over to check and see if they are wearing seatbelts. If they are not, the officer would give the driver a ticket.

Another solution is lowering the blood-alcohol level, so drivers would be considered legally impaired at a much lower level.

The Lumina lineup adds this performance-oriented Z34 coupe. Power is provided by an all-new Twin Dual Cam V6 engine rated at 210 horsepower with the standard 5-speed manual transmission. Sporty exterior appointments include specific front and rear fascias, rear spoiler, hood louvers, ground effects and Z34 graphics.

7-Eleven joins MADD

The Southland Corporation and its local 7-Eleven stores will join Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) in that organization's efforts to save lives this holiday season by encouraging motorists to drive safe and sober.

One hundred three (103) stores in the metro Detroit area are supporting MADD's "Project Red Ribbon" awareness campaign by distributing 18-inch red ribbons free to the public.

Motorists are asked to "tie one on for safety" by affixing the ribbon to an outside visible part of their vehicle, such as an antenna, door handle, or rear view mirror.

The ribbons are a symbol of the driver's commitment to drive safe and sober and to encourage others to do the same.

This is 7-Eleven's third year to participate in Project Red Ribbon, which gets under way nationally Thanksgiving week and runs through New Year's Day, or while supplies last.

Locally, 103 7-Eleven stores will offer the ribbons starting the week of Nov. 19.

The Southland Corporation, operator and franchisor of 7-Eleven stores, is a national sponsor of Project Red Ribbon and supplies each of MADD's more than 400 chapters nationwide with a mile of red ribbon for their distribution.

Students attend safety school

Last week, students who serve as safety patrol members at Edison Elementary School in Westland participated in a AAA Michigan Safety Patrol training session.

The session lasted about 45 minutes, and it gave students tips on how to ensure the safety of other students.

Safety Patrol members learned how to monitor traffic at intersections near the school and how to help students cross the roads safely.

The safety patrol has been helping children go to and from school since 1919. The AAA program is the oldest in the country, according to AAA officials.

"Last year, 102 children between the ages of 5 and 14 were killed in Michigan traffic and 10,856 injured," said Renee Ramos, AAA Michigan spokeswoman.

The safety patrol members are out on the corners every morning, at lunch time and after school. Many accidents have been avoided because of the members, according to Ramos.

"Student traffic accidents almost never happen when safety patrol members are on the job during school hours," she said.
